“Marriage is to be held in honor among all.”
--Hebrews 13:4 [NAS]

Dear Friends:

Without a doubt, the most exciting event of April was the wedding of Sarah Sykes and Joseph Weingartner. Sarah has been a vital part of Center for the Blind since 2001. She began volunteering her Braille skills when she was a freshman at Central Bible College. Over the years she has captured the hearts of the staff and the people of the ministry she serves.

Joseph is the son of Paul and Caryl Weingartner. He too is loved and admired by those connected with the Center for the Blind. It was a great joy to witness the Lord bringing their lives together and then celebrating their lifetime vows!

Please keep them in your prayers. With satanic lies trying to destroy traditional marriage, it is important they go beyond just staying married. It is equally important they model the joy and pleasures only available to those who live committed to the Lord and to each other.

The wedding date was right in the middle of preparing the summer quarterlies. The staff and volunteers stepped in and did an incredible job of getting materials done ahead of time. Thanks to their extra efforts everything is expected to go out by the intended date.

Other notable activities in April:

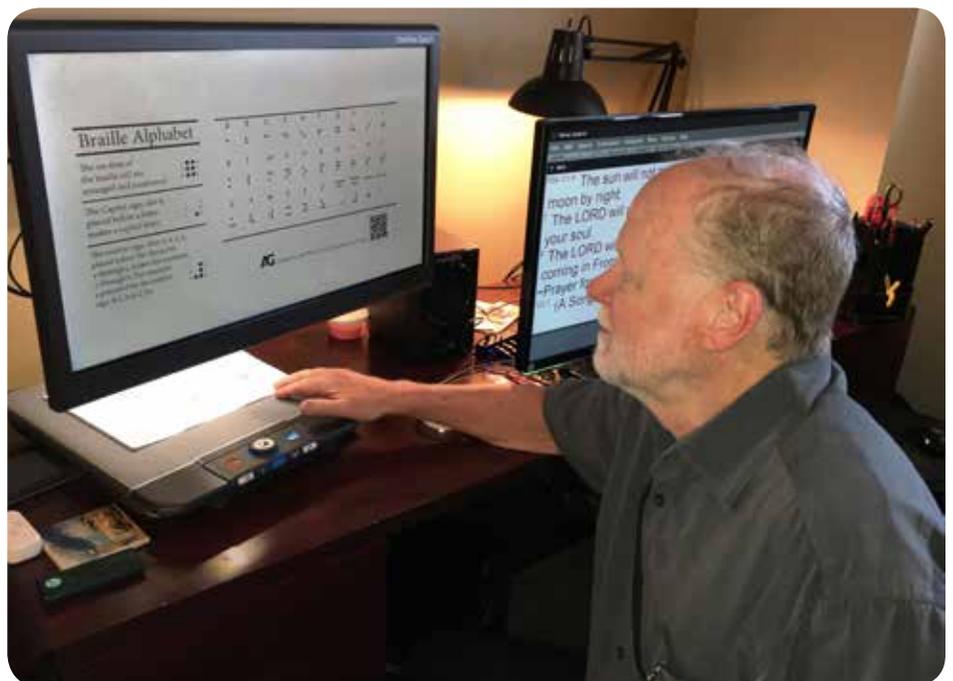

- Progress is moving forward on a new audio evangelist presentation to replace the Book of Hope that is no longer available. Also progressing, is a new promotional video and Braille alphabet cards.
- Requests for help continue to come in from overseas. Because of limited resources and because many requests are not legitimate, godly wisdom is necessary to determine when help should be offered.

Thank you for your continued support of the Center for the Blind! You are probably a bigger help and encouragement than you realize!
